Faculty in Engineering Colleges

690. SHRI LALITBHAI MEHTA:
SHRIMATI SAVITA SHARDA:

Will the Minister of HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) the number of Institutions which have been approved by AICTE for Degree Engineering courses in different States, as on 30th June, 2001;

(b) what is the total in take of each of the State, in Degree Engineering courses, as on 30th June, 2001 course-wise;

(c) what is the requirement of Professors and Assistant Professors as on 30th June, 2001 in Engineering colleges, considering the all India intake;

(d) whether it is a fact that required number of senior faculty is not available in Engineering Colleges; and

(e) what steps the Ministry propose to bridge the gap of availability and requirement of senior faculty in Engineering Colleges of the country?

THE MINISTER OF HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT (DR. MURLI MANOHAR JOSHI): (a) and (b) the nunber of degree level Engineering Colleges alongwith total intake approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) as on 30th June, 2001, state-wise, is given in the Statement. (See below).

(c) Keeping in view the all India intake, the student to teacher ratio and the inter-se ratio for Professor, Assistant Professor and Lecturer, the requirement of Professors and Assistant Professors in Engineering Colleges works out approximately to 2575 and 5150 respectively.

(d) and (e) It is a fact that there is a shortage of teachers in Engineering colleges in the country at various levels. There has been a major expansion of the technical education system in the recent past and it takes time for recruitment of sufficient number of teaching personnel as it is a time consuming process. Filling up of vacancies is a dynamic and continuous process. One of the main reasons for the vacancies is the relative disinclination of competent professionals to join the teaching profession in view of generally better opportunities available elsewhere. Government has taken various steps, viz
